

Effective Public Speaking & Presentation Skills The Minocher Patel Way

Research shows that a significant factor in people being promoted at work is the ability to effectively and concisely express oneself in public or at a meeting, no matter how large the gathering. Public speaking is number one fear, even ranking above death in many psychological polls. Fear and phobia grip people when it comes to public speaking.

Thus, the program addresses the innate fears and misconceptions rampant in a person's mind. With an electric mix of lecture and practical exercises, backed by video clipping of mock presentations, the program has all it takes to convert the most timid of speakers into stentorian orators.

What better way than getting trained in Public speaking and Presentation skills by internationally acclaimed Speaker- Mr. Minocher Patel.
